22.510.10.8 REMOVING OR ADDING PAROLE CONDITIONS: The provisions of this paragraph [now 22.510.10.8 NMAC] apply to all parolees. Any parolee, by going through his parole officer, may request that a condition of parole be removed, but the request must have the recommendation of his parole officer. The parole officer who wishes to add or remove any condition of parole, must have the parole board's permission to change the parolee's certificate. In some cases, a personal interview may be requested. In all instances, the request for addition or removal of parole conditions must state the reasons for the change.
